CAPITAL CHINESE DISCARD QUEUES

Chinatown Is Losing Its Picturesqueness Since Birth of New Republic.

DRESS ALSO CHANGES

A bear movement in the hay market can be expected on any day, and it is all due to the fact that the Chinese are cutting off their queues or "pig tails" as they are called by the American small boy. This last mark of distinction left by the warring Manchus, who descended upon China 30 years ago, has been erased.

The Chinaman with a queue almost has disappeared from the face of the earth. Reports recently have been made to the government that even in South China natives with queues are rapidly disappearing. It is all blamed on the republic, and is considered but another step in the march of civilization.

A walk through Washington's Chinatown is sufficient to get a demonstration that the Chinese do not wear queues now, and not many of them wear Chinese dress. The loose jacket, the bulky looking slippers, and the queue-like black hat has not entirely gone out with the queues, but they are going out fast, as any one may see for himself.

It used to be that an Oriental one would meet in the uptown streets of the city or on the street cars, was at once recognized as a Japanese if his hair were short and his clothes were of American or European style. Just now the Oriental of that appearance who is met here, there, and any where, is apt to be a Chinaman, because the Chinese are more numerous here than the Japanese, and most of them dress alike now.

Look Natty New.

This has wrought a great change in the impression that are to be gathered in Chinatown. The Chinese really do not seem so strange, persons say, who visited the quarter frequently in other days. The young men especially look keen and alert in natty gray suits and sailor straw hats and straight black hair, closely cut, where before they seemed to be dreaming with the rest and far away from the white race. It used to be a common saying that all Chinamen looked alike. Even in Chinatown now only a few seem to look alike, and these are the laundrymen and workers in the trades, who still adhere to the loose blouse and slippers, though their queues are cut off.

The robes that the prosperous ones wear have gone out completely and with them his skull cap, with the red button on top. The merchant wears American shoes and American clothes, cut in many instances, in the latest fashions.

What is customary here among the Chinese has become customary in every place in the world where they are congregated. It is the order of the Republic of China.

Manchu Fashion Gone.

The Chinese got the fashion of the queue and also the dress that went with it from the Manchus, who walked in and stole their country from them without a half struggle 300 years ago. The Man-chus were a handful in comparison to the teeming multitudes of China, but the Chinese were peaceful and non-resisting and

IT'S ALL FOR YOU

Illinois has more coal-producing counties than any other State, fifty-one, or just one-half of all the counties in the State, containing mines.

There up as easy victims to what they understood the inevitable. It seems, however, that in all these years, while they were apparently submissive to successive tyrannical rulers, who were not of their own people nor of their making, they had mental reservations which included contempt for the forms and prescriptions of the dynasty. No constituted government in the world had more established distinctions of dress to indicate position and rank and honors bestowed by a so-called gracious sovereign.

With one sweep that was all destroyed.
With the coming of the republic all distinctions were wiped out by an official order that was intended to make the citizens of the republic democrats at once without any declarations for one or the other.

CARNIVAL FOR MT. RAINIER.

Starting on Labor Day, It Will Continue for Week.

Citizens of Mt. Rainier have united to give a great carnival for the benefit of the town. The entertainment will start on Labor Day and continue a week.
Representative Thomas Parvan of Maryland will make an address on the opening day, and there will also be an elaborate parade on Labor Day. All the amusement booths have been completed, and they include paddle stands, ring stands, fortune tellers, tiptoe games, and many other features.

A cotillion cake contest for the housewives of the town will also be held, and a fully equipped and typical country store will be opened. A merry-go-round for the "kids" of Mt. Rainier will be there.

Gov. Goldsborough of Maryland has promised to be present if his son, who has typhoid fever, is well enough. At 8 o'clock in the evening a country dinner will be served.

The members of the executive committee, composed of the chairmen of the other committees, are as follows: Mayor Joseph T. K. Plant, chairman; Wilfred E. Hughes, Frank Proctor, Warren James, Fred Webber, Benson Moore, George Fox, Dr. Joseph Ohlendorf, William Lewis, Joseph Van Overmeer, Ira Moore, Thomas Leitch, William Venn-man, and Charles Peckham.

MRS. BELKNAP'S FUNERAL.

Arlington Cemetery.

The funeral of Mrs. Frances G. P. Belknap will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon from St. John's Protestant Episcopal Church, and interment will be in Arlington cemetery. The Rev. Mr. Prescott, of Boston, her brother, will conduct the services.

Mrs. Belknap is the widow of Rear Admiral George E. Belknap. She is survived by two sons, Commander Richard R. Belknap, assistant chief of the Bureau of Navigation, and Prescott H. Belknap.
She resided at 1825 I Street Northwest.

DOMINICA RECAPTURES TOWN.

Dahabon Taken from Insurrectos by Government Force.

The Dominican government has recaptured the town of Dahabon, on the Haitian border, according to a report received at the State Department yesterday from the American Legation at Santo Domingo City.

This town was taken by insurrec-tionists several months ago, and the government has been gradually working up a force of troops to take it.
With a large force approaching, the insurrectos are reported to have hur-

DR. KLINE LEAVES.

on Island of Luzon.

Farewells were said yesterday by church friends to Dr. L. B. Kline, who sionary. Selected by the Foreign Christian Missionary Society, Dr. Kline will link" of that church with their unchristianized brethren in the Philippines.

Dr. Kline was graduated from the Bible School of Transylvania University at Lexington, Ky., and the Medical School of George Washington University. He will sail from San Francisco on September 7, and will join other missionaries at Vigan,

Island of Luzon, where a Bible College has been established, and where it is Dr. Kline's purpose to start an early day

PLAN APPEAL TO "FOLKS BACK HOME"

Christian Endeavorers to Reach Congressmen Through Constituent in Excise Fight.

Plans to appeal to members of Congress through the "folks back home" for regulation of the liquor traffic in the District were described at an open-air meeting in Franklin Park last night by A. C. Muddiman, a prominent Christian Endeavorer.

Mr. Muddiman stated that the bill, which formerly was before the House District Committee, and now is before the House Rules Committee, would certainly be brought before the House next week, he said, and expected it would be passed. The Senate has already passed it.

A stereopticon was used to throw pictures on a screen during the services.
James H. MacAllister presided, and J. B. Clayton conducted the religious exercises.

FUNERAL OF VETERAN.

Buried in Arlington.

Thomas F. Stanford, veteran of the Union army, who died in Anacostia Saturday, will be buried in Arlington National Cemetery this afternoon. The body of Marcellus W. Harris, Southern veteran, which lay beside that of his one-time foe at Lee's undertaking chapel, will be sent to the Loudon Park Cemtery, Baltimore, and buried by the Pikeville authorities.

Stanford, who was seventy-two years old, was born in Brooklyn, and served as a sergeant major. Harris was a Virginian, eighty years old, and served through the war as a private. Both the men were veterans of the old type that has almost vanished.

Atkins, for seven years pastor of the St.
John's Church, Georgetown, was buried from her residence in the Cordova yesterof Philadelphia, and the Rev. Edward W.

Niver, of Baltimore, conducted the services. Interment was in old St. Paul's Cemetery.
